Hi, this week I thought I would mostly go with ideas to help with your little balls of energy. They like me are most likely getting cabin fever. So here are some fun "PE" ideas for you. As well as another fun art project for spring. Stay healthy and safe.

Get Up and Move Something!
By Teacher Anthony

1. Balloon Volleyball -
   Set up your court by using a jump rope (or any rope) to divide your yard in two. Use a balloon for the ball and have players alternate serves. The first to 21 is the winner!

2. Blanket Relay -
   Grab some blankets (preferably old ones) and pull your partner across the lawn as fast as you can. Team members switch places to give their partner a ride to the finish line.

3. Mini-Golf Course -
   Your garage probably has everything you need for this game — pool noodles, ropes, and cardboard boxes. Arrange everything on your driveway or in your yard to create your very own course.

4. Driveway Toy Car Race -
   Grab any type of toy car and a couple sticks of sidewalk chalk. Draw your start and finish lines and the lane markers in the driveway, and let the races begin.

5. Frisbee Tic Tac Toe -
   You will need a cheap shower curtain, colored tape and nine Frisbees. Tape the shower curtain to the ground, making a Tic-Tac-Toe grid with the tape. Stand behind a given line to throw a Frisbee on a square. Allow the players multiple tries to land in a square.

Art Gallery
Give your child(ren) some art supplies and a block of time to create. You can choose a theme or allow them to come up with one. Set aside a small space in your home where they may display their art once it's complete. Encourage them to lead a tour of their new art gallery.

Have your family choose a movie to watch that night, then have your child create a movie poster and “tickets” for the movie using paper, cardstock, markers, color pencils, etc., for the movie night. You can make a special treat with your child such as popcorn or caramel corn for dessert to enjoy during the film!
